

Returning to School

You may be getting ready to go back to school.

Here are a few things that might be good to know about school before you go back.

School is likely to feel and look a little different to how it was before.

The building will be the same but there will be some changes to the school.

You might have a different Teacher or Teaching Assistant and some of your lessons may be outside if the weather is nice.

You might be taught in a different classroom to your usual one. Classrooms may look a little bit different. Some of the tables may be set out on their own rather than in groups. This is to help keep you safe and make sure you don't sit too close to your friends. You will still be able to speak to the people in your group but you just won't be able to get too close or touch them. You will need to try and stay 2 metres apart as much as possible.

You will be with a smaller group of friends; not all of the children in your class will be together in the same group. This is to help keep everyone safe and to give you more space in the classroom. You will be able to wave at your friends from different groups at a distance.

Lunchtime or break time may be at a different time to normal and you may not have assemblies.

If you are worried or don't understand something about going back to school, it's important that you talk to an adult about this.

This could be a Teacher, a Teaching Assistant or your parent/carer. Everyone feels worried sometimes. There are a lot of things that will be different but it is OK and it will be good to go back to school to see your friends again.
